In order to foster the academic study of Pentecostalism among graduate students, The Society for Pentecostal Studies will provide an annual award to a student member for the “Best Research Paper.” The recipient of this scholarship is determined by Interest Group Leader nomination and Membership Committee ratification. The award includes the public recognition of the recipient, who will present his or her paper during the annual conference of the Society. It will also include a financial amount (to be determined each year) toward travel expenses to SPS for that year.
